Indianapolis Refugee Leadership Council (IRLC)

“The IRLC strives to increase awareness of the local refugee community in our city, connect individuals and organizations involved with supporting refugees in Indianapolis, as well as to educate volunteers to better serve refugees.”

Gregory A. Ballard, Mayor

The Mayor's Office of International & Cultural Affairs is proud to facilitate the Indianapolis Refugee Leadership Council (IRLC) along with our city's resettlement agencies, Catholic Charities and Exodus Refugee Immigration.

The mission of IRLC is to be the central leadership point in the Indianapolis community to review current and anticipated issues related to supporting these individuals and families to become active and contributing residents.

The group will periodically organize educational and cultural programs for both service providers as well as the general public.
